

Agenda Item 3 (c)
Japan

At the time of discussions to embody the roadmap presented, careful consideration is required based on the situations of each country's power policy and power supply system,

In Japan, there are very high concerns about the security of international interconnections. And we also should consider the economic rationality and the differences in the legal systems.

We are aware that based on the strategy of this road map, there will be discussion on high voltage power line and reviews on policies and regulations of respective countries in the Asia Pacific toward finalizing the Master Plan by 2025. Government of Japan is keen to follow progress from the position that I mentioned.

We also would like to make sure that the works of regional road map will be implemented within the existing resources.
