Advancing official statistics for the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development: initiatives by global, regional and subregional organizations in support of the collective vision and framework for action

Work of the secretariat and partners on mainstreaming gender in environment statistics

With reference to ESCAP/CST/2020/INF/10, on the work of the secretariat and partners on mainstreaming gender into environment statistics in Asia and the Pacific, Mongolia wishes to acknowledge the importance of this work and encourage the secretariat and partners to continue furthering this work.

In this regard, National Statistics Office of Mongolia also wishes to highlight the related works that has taken place in Mongolia to pioneer the measurement of some of these gender-environment indicators with the support of UN Women.

In particular, National Statistics Office of Mongolia is collaborating with the National Emergency Management Agency of Mongolia to begin data collection on the nexus between gender and the environment in the context of natural disasters and climate change.

In addition, the National Statistics Office of Mongolia is currently preparing a report on the specific needs and challenges that women herders face in Mongolia. With this work, Mongolia hopes to contribute, and collaborate with other countries in Asia and the Pacific, to enhance the regional measurement of the gender-environment nexus.
