

Papua New Guinea

Environment Statistics:

The Government of PNG is very much aware of the impacts of the global climate change and has seen the effects of the natural disasters. Coordinating and managing has become the major role through respective agencies within the nation and within the region. The compilation of the statistics as yet to be coordinated by the NSO although the planning process has been in place.